

A P R I L 1 7 , 2 0 1 6

Watershed Week in Review

Llano River Watershed Alliance

Still time to receive one of these books FREE

Join the Alliance and noted land stewardship author Jim Stanley on April 30th, 2016 from 1-4 pm at the Kerr Wildlife Management Area (WMA) as we explore firsthand how what we do on the land can help (or hinder) our rivers and springs. This Alliance outing is FREE and the first 20 parties that RSVP will receive a free copy of Jim's Hill Country Landowner Guide.

Please RSVP to southllanoriver@gmail.com

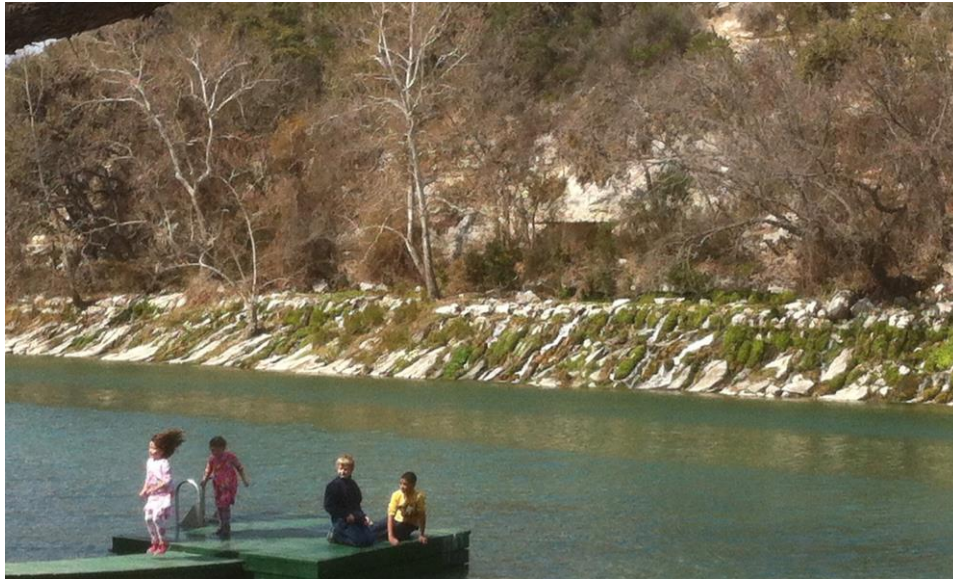

About 3 to 4 inches is forecast to fall in areas of the watershed through Tuesday. The heaviest amounts should be Sunday.

Be careful! This truck was swept off the road near Llano last month.

Image from Hill Country Scanner

700 Springs Tour postponed

Due to the threat of inclement weather, this weekend's tour of 700 Springs was postponed. The road that leads down to the springs can become quite treacherous when wet.

No word yet as to a potential rescheduling of the event.

Have a great pic of the Llano?

Enter it in the Llano County Historical Museum Photo Contest

The Llano County Historical Museum is sponsoring The Llano River through the Lens photo contest.

Entries must be submitted by April 30th.

Winners in the four age categories will be announced at the Grand Opening of the Exhibit on May 20th.

more detail

Soil and Water Stewardship Week

Several agencies and organizations across the state are joining Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board to highlight the importance of voluntary land stewardship during Soil and Water Stewardship Week, April 24 to May 1.

“Land Stewardship Produces a Healthy Texas” is the theme of this year’s statewide campaign.

“...the way we manage our resources on private lands directly impacts the water resources available for public consumption.” –Dr. John Tracy, Director Texas Water Resources Institute

For more information...

Llano Springs Ranch – photo Chase Fountain, Texas Parks & Wildlife

AgriLife Research Station in Sonora celebrates its 100-year anniversary with a most unusual item

Super Juniper Eating Goats will be offered for sale to the public for the first time during the 100th anniversary celebration of the Texas A&M AgriLife Research Station at Sonora April 23. (Texas A&M AgriLife Communications photo by Steve Byrns)

Next Saturday, April 23rd, the AgriLife Research Station between Sonora and Rocksprings will celebrate its 100-year anniversary by auctioning off 10 breeding-age goats from their flock of Super Juniper Eating Goats.

As part of the festivities, participants will learn about grazing management, plant ecology and watershed management, and prescribed fire, to name a few of the topics.

This FREE event also includes lunch, dinner, and music.